Key vocab		People visit lots of different places. They might visit a local area, travel a bit further and go on a national trip, or take a longer holiday somewhere else in the world. Many tourists like to visit a seaside resort.
local area	Nearby.	Sticky Knowledge
national	Within the same country.
resort	A popular place for holidays.	A seaside resort has many physical features. Features such as the beach, the sea, cliffs and caves have been made naturally. This means they were made by nature.	The coastline around the UK is where you can find seaside resorts tourist	Someone who travels or visits a place for pleasure.	Human features found at the seaside might include the pier, the promenade, a lighthouse and a fairground. These are man-made.	There are lots of islands around the world that people visit for their holidays. Some have a warmer climate than others.
physical feature	A feature that has been formed by nature	There is always plenty to do at the seaside, like building sandcastles, paddling in the sea and donkey rides.	A harbour is a physical feature - a place where ships or boats moor (tie-up).
human feature	A feature that has been made or changed by humans.	There are lots of seaside resorts in the United Kingdom that have been popular for many years.	Seaside towns have plenty of attractions for tourists.
pier	A structure built out into the water for people to walk on.	In Victorian times, people would travel to the seaside to enjoy activities, such as a puppet show or walk along the promenade.	The bay and beaches are some of the physical features that visitors can enjoy.
			The harbour is used for boat trips, fishing and seal spotting tours.
promenade	A public place for walking for pleasure.	The Victorians believed that the sea air was good for you and that sea bathing would make you healthy.	Seaside resorts have plenty of restaurants and cafes for tourists to visit. There are also huts selling snacks, such as ice-creams, drinks and fish and chips.
bay	Part of the coast where the land curves in and is surrounded by the sea on three sides.	In the past, beaches were much cleaner because there was less litter.	The UK is made up of the large island of Great Britain, Northern Ireland and many smaller islands.
